LADIES CONFERENCE

JJ Davenport grew up in Cocoa, FL and moved to Alabama with her husband Larry. She received her BA in Biblical Studies from Heritage Christian University and her MA in Education from Western Governors University. She has spoken at ladies' days and retreats throughout the Southeast and is the host for a Facebook ladies devotional group called "Equipped," currently serving more than 2000 members. JJ works at Mars Hill Bible School in Florence, AL where she teaches elementary music and directs the middle and high school choirs. JJ received her music education from Disney legend Dr. Larry Boye and directs the nationally recognized Celebration Show Choir. She directs musicals throughout the year to sell-out crowds. She, her husband Larry, and their family attend the Jackson Heights Church of Christ in Florence, AL.
